PROBERS TO CHECK BECK DEMANDS AFTER LOAN OF $1,500,000 TO FIRM

Future Looks Uncertain For Fire Victims

"There have been wonderful offers of help," said Charles Rauch, "but we don't know exactly what our next move will be."

The Rauch home at 731 Austin Drive, Fairless Hills, was destroyed by fire yesterday.

The fire started around noon and was battled by all three Falls Township companies and Pendergast, but nothing could be saved.

Disaster Unit
The small disaster unit of the Lower Bucks County Chapter, American Red Cross immediately took steps to make sure the Rauchs would not lack food, clothing or housing in the emergency.

Edward Smith, of the Chapter's Speakers Bureau, was the first to arrive to make arrangements, and Eugene Beck, chairman of the disaster unit was called.

Good Evening!

We've still got it—the heat.

Who cares? Nobody but the kids and only because all the lovely swimming pools haven't been open for the past week. They have to wait until Decoration Day?

Weatherman had better turn on the sprinkler, however. Farmers, gardeners and backyard hands beginning to hurt a little.

Last night one of the most perfect of the spring, incidentally, as Rookie Jack Sanford pitches a three-hitter to beat the Bucs 3-1.

That puts the Phils strong in fourth place, only a game back of the Dodgers and if they could win this series from the Pirates, look out! We'll be on the way.

Another plane dives into the ocean with all hands saved—this time a Navy flying boat ditching in the San Francisco Bay and 16 crew members living to tell about it.

Hand it to the boys who drive those big skycooters. We've had a lot of "pretty dramatic heroics" in the past year.

Nothing particularly heroic about Governor Leader freeing a Philadelphia gang slayer after less than two years of a term had been served.

He did it on the Pardons Board recommendation, of course. After that legislative inquiry when the inherent weaknesses of the board and its exposure to political influence were made so apparent, are we to have a continuation of this travesty on justice?

What opportunity this man Leader has for distinguished service to the people of Pennsylvania. All he's doing is kicking it around.

Why are kids usually so well informed on anything they don't have to study?

An old-fashioned cook is one who cooks from cans instead of frozen food packages.

If you're driving during the weekend, be careful.

Go to church tomorrow.

Channel Talks On Budget Official Now

Closed Door Confab Centers On River Deepening Costs

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) met with the civil works chief of the Budget Bureau for more than an hour Friday in talks centering over the controversial deepening of the Delaware River channel.

The closed-door meeting came at the conclusion of Congressional hearings on the President's proposed nine-million dollar appropriation for the fiscal year 1958 for a 35-foot channel between Philadelphia and Trenton, N. J.

At the hearings local government representatives, and maritime, civic, and business interests of the Delaware Valley called for $16,500,000 for a 40-foot channel. Martin on Thursday criticized Percival F. Brundage, director of the Budget Bureau, for using "devious" means to "flout" the will of Congress, which, Martin said, had authorized funds for a 40-foot channel.

Congress in 1955 approved a 40-foot channel but the Budget Bureau has recommended an "interim" 35-foot channel to the President.

Representing Lower Bucks were William C. Henwood, Meenan Oil Company, and Rep. Willard S. Curtin (R-Pa.).

3 Children Die In Fire

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Three small children were killed early today when they were overcome by smoke as their mother tried in vain to open a locked bedroom window during a fire in their North Philadelphia row house.

The victims were identified as Joseph Gayton, 8, his sister, Priscilla, 4, and a brother, Patrick, 5. Three other children, John, 9 months, Hugh, 9, and a foster child, Viola, 17, managed to escape when neighbors raised a ladder to another open second floor window.

Police said the children and the mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Gayton, 27, were asleep when the fire broke out in an oil burner in the basement and filled the house with smoke.

They said Mrs. Gayton took Joseph, Priscilla, and Patrick to a second floor bedroom window and tried desperately to open it. She then rushed to try another window but collapsed from smoke inhalation.

Meanwhile, the three other children managed to escape and firemen, who were summoned, carried Mrs. Gayton unconscious from the house. When the mother (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

Tomorrow Is Forever

Tomorrow is 24 hours and a lifetime. Mrs. Anthony Rago, 213 Mill St., Bristol, rehearses taking her baby, Geraldine, home. The infant has been at Lower Bucks County Hospital since her premature birth on Feb. 13. Miss Lucy McGinnis, in charge of the nursery looks on approvingly. Tomorrow—forever—the Rago family will be together.

A Lifetime Of Waiting

Bristol Mother Waits For Finest Mother's Day Gift

By KAY BLINCOE
Courier and Times Staff Writer

Glass is steel and three months ago today Mrs. Anthony Rago, 213 Mill St., Bristol,

The tiny, blonde Bristolian has lived a quarter of a year for tomorrow and what it will bring. Tomorrow—Mother's Day—brings flame-haired, five-pound, eight-ounce Geraldine Rago into tender, longing arms; if Lower Bucks County Hospital officials say the word.

Little Geraldine, a twin, was born two months prematurely on Feb. 13. Her weight at birth was one pound-15 ounces. Her sister,

Plane Dives 10,000 Feet

HAYWARD Calif. (UP)—Cmdr. Elbert Binkley said today his only thought was to set his giant Navy Tradewinds flying boat down "as fast as possible" when one of the plane's propellers ran wild at 10,000 feet Friday.

"We tried everything," Binkley said. "The prop couldn't be controlled. It wouldn't feather. We couldn't change the pitch."

"The plane was shaking and vibrating severely and something had to be done."

That something was an almost vertical dive that brought the two million dollar, 20-ton "Coral Sea" to a shattering crash landing in shallow waters of the San Francisco Bay only 90 seconds later.

Mary Jo, two pounds-ten ounces, lived only two hours after birth. The surviving infant, the smallest ever delivered successfully at the Bucks hospital, was immediately placed in isolation and put on special care around the clock.

The kind that takes all the loving care and attention possible. Glass turned to steel and minutes to years. Geraldine is the Rago's only child. "There've been so many times when I wanted to just break that nursery window and take my baby," Mrs. Rago said. "Today was only the second time I've been allowed to hold her and each time my eyes were a little blurry."

Finest Gift
"I've been praying for the day my baby and I can be together, really together, and tomorrow's the day," the mother's eyes danced. "What a wonderful Mother's Day gift. Nothing, not anything, can take tomorrow away from me," she smiled.

"My seamstress business (The French Shop, Bristol), is at a standstill," Mrs. Rago said. "I come to the hospital every day. Sometimes twice a day. That's the agony. Looking through that glass for three months, wanting my child."

A complete wardrobe is waiting for Geraldine. Her mother whiled away the hours sewing, hoping, dreaming. "I didn't give up faith in God," she said, "and how good He can be."

Wonderful Staff
The hospital staff has been wonderful, Mrs. Rago said. "Everyone has taken an interest in my baby and that's meant so much."

"Each ounce gained was a victory," she said.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Two old comrades-in-arms today hoped to roam the great Gettysburg battlefield together sometime this weekend.

One was President Eisenhower. The other was British Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery, victor over Nazi Gen. Erwin Rommel's Afrika Corps and now deputy commander of North Atlantic Treaty Forces.

The President planned to fly from the capital to his Gettysburg farm shortly after breakfast. Montgomery, who spent the night at the White House, planned either to accompany the President or drive to the farm later in the day with Mrs. Eisenhower.

Union Funds Made Up Entire Sum

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Labor Rackets Committee next week will investigate what Dave Beck demanded of the Fruehauf Trailer Co. after lending it $1,500,000 of his Teamster Union's funds.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy told reporters today the inquiry will not be aimed at the loan itself, which was announced long ago, but "what occurred after that."

He said the investigation did not necessarily imply wrongdoing by Fruehauf. The loan was repaid with interest in 14 months.

Junta Seeks Recognition In Columbia

Move Is Designed To Bring Normalcy Back To Nation

BOGOTA, Colombia (UP)—A five-man military junta that ousted President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla sought quick recognition of its ruling status from foreign nations today.

The junta move was designed to give it prestige and help return the country to normal from a week of strikes, demonstrations and violence.

The whereabouts of the deposed Rojas Pinilla remained a mystery.

Informed sources said he was in Bogota as of late Friday night. Other reports said he had fled or was fleeing the country. Venezuela, Panama and the United States were mentioned as possible destinations.

The junta, headed by War Minister Maj. Gen. Gabriel Paris, sought to assure the country it would not become another military dictatorship.

It was working closely with civilian leaders of political parties.

Paris promised the country a return to constitutional rule. He said censorship would be lifted from the press and free elections would be held next year for presidential term that starts Aug. 7, 1958.

Blue Jeans Are 'Crummy'

WASHINGTON (UP)—A suburban high school principal has declared war on tight blue jeans.

He doesn't go for tight white T-shirts either.

"They're indecent," he said. "And they don't look neat."

The principal—Samuel J. Coffey of nearby Fairfax, Va.—opened hostilities on tight blue jeans Friday by sending home from school about 40 tightly blue-jeaned boys.

"A few were wearing those silly things down on their hips," he said. "And those T-shirts are undershirts."

"They were a crummy-looking bunch."

Moreover, Coffey said, the whole business was a conspiracy—the boys decided in advance to wear the jeans and T-shirts to school on the same day.

"A hair-brained idea," the principal said. "They thought it was funny until I called them all out of class."

Beck, head of the nation's biggest union, was pictured at Friday's hearing as a man who split a $11,585 profit from selling mortgages to a memorial fund for the widow of his best friend.

He was trustee of the memorial fund and as trustee of Teamster money, too, granted himself a loan to buy the mortgages which he sold to the memorial fund at a profit, Kennedy said.

The 31-year-old committee counsel said this was just one of four ways by which Beck and his family enriched themselves from the investment of more than nine million dollars of Teamster money in mortgages.

Beck himself is expected to return to the witness chair next week and be given a chance to explain detailed charges that he used his power with the union to line his pockets.

The Teamster boss already has pleaded the Fifth Amendment 150 times before the committee rather than answer questions. However, he said late Friday in a press release that the union's investments under his guidance have shown a steadily increasing yield.

At the same time the committee was disclosing Beck's financial dealings, Teamster "crown prince" James R. Hoffa, lost a fight in federal court to quash bribery and conspiracy charges against him.

But he won a 21-day postponement of his trial that was set for May 27. He also was granted permission to seek another postponement.

Falls Republicans Meet

Mother Of Year To Be Selected

Who will be honored as the Mother of the Year in the Delaware Valley by the Levittown Slop-A-Rama and WTTM, Trenton?

That's the big question in the maternity wards at Lower Bucks County, Delaware Valley, Mercer, St. Francis, McKinley, and Trenton General Hospitals.

At noon tomorrow, a check will be made at each hospital to determine the first woman to become a mother for the first time in the Delaware Valley.

Reward
The Levittown Businessmen's Radio Station WTTM will award the happy new mother and her family with a carload of gifts from LBA member stores.

The gifts to the Mother and her new addition will include: $10 Gift Certificate from the Mayflower Shop; a pair of shoes, one handbag, and three pair of hose from Thom McAn.

A Mother's Day, Box of Candy from Shellenberger's; Van Raalte lingerie from Pomeroy's; a $15 credit book from the W. T. Grant Co.; a 40 piece Even Flo Feeding Set from the J. C. Penney Co.; a Sears, Roebuck & Co. Honeysuckle layette set; a $15.00 permanent wave from Yards; a Baby bassinett complete with mattress from Lobel's Youth Center; Slippers from Dial Shoes.

Other Gifts
A Hanksraft Bottle sterilizer

Struble Raps Levies As 'Nuisance Taxes'

David H Struble, democratic candidate for tax collector in Falls township today called for the elimination of what he called nuisance taxes.

Speaking at a Neighborhood meeting held at the home of Beverly Lipps in the Pennsbury Heights section of Falls Township, Struble stated that the head tax and the occupation tax are nuisances to the already overburdened taxpayer and called for abolition as soon as possible. He declared that the occupation tax bills mailed out in the last few weeks are a nuisance not only to the taxpayers but also the tax collector's office. Each housewife in Falls Township received a bill in the amount of 80 cents for township purposes. The monies thus collected should be included in the millage rate and would be much more convenient for all concerned.

The same thing applies to the head tax that is collected for school purposes. He urged the Falls Township School Board to consider elimination of the head tax when they set the tax rate for the next school year.

Democratic Association Plans Open Houses

The Middletown Township Democratic Association will hold open house programs Tuesday and Wednesday nights at 8:30 o'clock in Levittown.

Tuesday night the candidates for township office endorsed by the association will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Flesher, at 14 Quill Road, Quincy Hollow. Registered Democrats of Quincy Hollow and Lower Orchard sections of Levittown are invited to attend.

Democrats of Cobalt Ridge and Juniper Hill will get a chance to meet the candidates at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brand, 39 Cobalt Ridge Drive, South,

36 to Compete In Road-E-O On Monday

Thirty-six drivers from three Lower Bucks County schools will compete for honors in the fourth annual Tenn-age Road-E-O to be held 10:30 a.m. Monday at the Levittown Country Club Shopping Center on Route 1.

William Tennent, Nesaminy and Council Rock High School students will participate in the contest which will give the winner a possible shot at a four-year college scholarship.

Road-E-O Chairman
Howard Schook, Middletown township police chief and member of the Jaycees, is Road-E-O chairman. Seven brand new Fords, donated by McCafferty Ford, Langhorne, will be used by the contestants.

The contest winner will win the right to compete in the state finals to be held in June at Hazelton.

State winners will be entered in the national competition which offers four full scholarships to its winners.

The 36 youths, 12 from each of the three participating schools, were selected to compete on the basis of written tests given 300 pupils.

Paul Caracappa is publicity chairman for the Rodeo.

Maurice Shull Isn't Manager

Maurice A. Shull, 404 Alden Ave., Morrisville, told the Courier and Times today he isn't campaign manager for Democrat Constantine Mitchell, candidate for Falls Township tax collector.

Mr. Shull said, "As a private citizen, tax-payer, and voter I am in favor of Connie Mitchell and am supporting him for the office in any way possible."

"I challenged Milton Berkes, chairman of the Falls Township Board of Supervisors, ... when he signed a 'poison pen letter' intended to harm Connie Mitchell," Mr. Shull said.

Mitchell's campaign co-chairmen are William Martier and Pearl Fite.

Fire Victims

Mr. Rauch said, "We have no plans beyond a session with our insurance agents tomorrow. However, he added, "we might take advantage of the Red Cross offer to emergency help ... I just don't know."

Chief John Conklin of the Fairless Hills Volunteer Fire Company said a very rough estimate of the damage would be about $15,000 since the house and furnishings were a complete loss.

"We still don't know the cause of the fire," he said, "but apparently it started in the utility room in back of the kitchen."

Seek Solution
The Chief said the fire company has been working for some time on the problem of what could cause house fires of undetermined origin.

He said it would be a good idea for all residents to check their water heaters for cloths or paper stored too close to them. "There have been several little 'smolders' around from this sort of thing."

Rain Gives Fire Relief

First Session In Series Held By Art Group

The first in a two-session series of flower painting instruction and demonstration was conducted at this week's meeting of the Levittown Artist's Association by Virginia Schold, a member of the club who is widely known for her work in this field.

A professional painter, Mrs. Schold recently exhibited examples of her work at the Player's Barn in Langhorne. She will conclude her series at next Thursday's meeting.

Specific instruction of this type is in line with the program set up by the Association which has, as members, professional artists and art teachers who aid the amateur members by conducting short courses in their various media.

Marvin Levitt, president of the club, conducts classes in oil painting and sculpture; Ira Grossman, instructs the members in life drawing; Ruth Ratton teaches water-color work, Marion Hayes, pastels and portrait; and Selma Bortner each year offers a course in arts and crafts which includes linoleum block and silk-screen printing, ceramics, copper, and wood.

Thursday Meetings
The group meets every Thursday evening in the Child Re-development center on Red Cedar Drive, and meetings are open to the public.

Yearly dues of $5 entitles members to enter their work in the two annual exhibits, but it has been announced that any-one desiring to come to specific meetings to work in certain media but not desiring to enter exhibits may do so at any time for a fee of fifty cents per meeting.

Further information on the Levittown Artist's Association can be obtained from Mrs. Bea Berlin, 11 Field Lane, or by calling her at WI 5-2708.

Church Rites Tomorrow

Dedication ceremonies for the newly-erected St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Croydon, will take place tomorrow at 12 noon.

Archbishop John F. O'Hara will offer the blessing. Following the dedication the Archbishop will preside at a Solemn Mass to be celebrated by the Rev. Joseph B. Diamond, church pastor. Rev. Charles B. Convery will deliver the sermon.

The new church has been designed in contemporary style by Henry D. Dagit and Sons, and built by Frank A. D'Lauro, both of Philadelphia.

Members of the Catholic War Veterans — St. Thomas Aquinas Post and the Fourth Degree Color guard of Bristol Council 906, Knights of Columbus, will act as guards during the ceremonies.

A dinner will be served in the old church building at 5 p.m. for members of the parish and their friends.

Association Sets Mother's Day Service

The Demra Association of Delaware Valley will have a Mother's Day service at Fairless Hills Methodist Church at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

Those participating will include Claudia Young, Betty Ann Reed, Virginia Kratz, Edward Evert and Alan Lee.

Penn Valley School

Mrs. George Kohlbrenner, ticket chairman for the Penn Valley School PTA's Carnival, is shown selling tickets to Pamela Gebhard of 59 North Court Lane and John Kitchener of 16 Narcissus Lane, North Park. The carnival will be held at Baldwin's "Funland" on Route 13, May 11 from 12 noon until 10 p.m.

Weapons Flex Armed Might At Exhibition

A special preview display of military equipment will be exhibited Monday evening at Levittown Shop-A-Rama as a prelude to Armed Forces Day.

The display, which will feature one of the powerful new Nike guided missiles, will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. at the center's mall.

The Levittown Businessmen's Association, sponsor of "power for peace" exhibit, announced that members of armed forces reserve units will be on hand during the display to answer questions and act as guides.

The Nike missile will be displayed on a specially-constructed trailer unit. The missile will be surrounded by a wide variety of weapons used in modern combat, including machine guns, mortars, recoilless rifles, and rocket launchers.

Arrangements for the display were made with the United States Army Reserve Training Center, Bristol. The exhibits will serve as a preview of the major Armed Forces Day event at the training center on May 18, during which a six hour program of exhibits, motion pictures and defense demonstrations will be held.

Special Rites To Conclude

Services tomorrow will conclude a week of evangelistic services at First Christian Church, Emille-Woodbourne Road, by Robert L. Page, evangelist.

The topics will be "Life's Boundaries," at 11 a.m., and "Evening Sins That Crucify," at the 8 p.m. service. Singing will be led by Douglas Flesham, of the music department of Newtown public schools, and Mrs. Ruth Unger will be organist.

There will be Negro spirituals by the Fellowship Christian Church choir of Philadelphia.

If you've got a keen sense for news, it could mean extra bucks for you. Whatever the news tip might be, just phone the News Tip Editor, Courier and Times, Windsor 5-1000 or STILLWELL 8-3325. For the best tip of the week, the Courier and Times will pay $5.00.

Scout Troop Mothers Pick New President

Mrs. James Kelly was elected president of Scout Mothers of Boy Scout Troop 39, Edgely, recently. Other officers elected are: Mrs. Walter Keen, vice chairman; Mrs. Charles Hinton, and Mrs. James Phillips, treasurer.

The mothers group was recently organized. It has purchased tents and other camping equipment for the troop. The women plan to sell vanilla soon to raise money.

Fifteen boys at the troop attended the Pennsbury District Jamboree held recently at Delhaas High School. Leaders accompanying the troop were Charles Hinton, scoutmaster Howard Lovett and John Killian of the troop committee.

BELATED AWARD

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP)—World War I veteran Albert M. Tiffany said today the Defense Department has notified him he will receive a Purple Heart soon for wounds he suffered in France in 1918. "It's a good thing I didn't have to wait that long for my Army pay," Tiffany said.

New England Showers Are 'Breather'

BOSTON (UP) — Widespread showers broke a month-long drought Friday night, but provided only "a breather" for fire-ravaged New England.

The first rain to fall on the region since early April temporarily ended the critical forest fire menace. The rain arrived two hours after flames were checked at historic Plymouth, Mass., in New England's worst forest fire in 10 years.

Estimates of loss in the billions were called "conservative" by forestry officials.

Massachusetts Gov. Foster Furcolo ordered an immediate program of cloud-seeding in hopes of manufacturing more rain.

Furcolo said, "We hold no hope for artificial rainmaking, but we are determined to leave no stone unturned." The plan, to be carried out in four areas of Massachusetts, was revealed a few hours after Furcolo asked the legislature for three million dollars to meet forest fire expenses.

More Rain Needed

Massachusetts Commissioner of Natural Resources Francis W. Sargent, said the showers provided "only a breathing spell." He repeated his earlier warning that "we need at least two inches of soaking rain" to end the forest fire danger. The Weather Bureau forecast called for less than one inch ending early today.

In Farmingdale, N.J., between 200 and 240 children had to be removed from a nearby tuberculosis sanitarium when a forest fire threatened the Howell Twp. Preventorium and other homes in the area.

The children were taken to nearby schools and sheltered for the night.

In Albany, N.Y., Gov. Averell Harriman banned all camping in wooded areas and canceled all state police days off in an effort to stem the 1,000-odd forest fires that have burned nearly 15,000 acres in the last five days.

Maine Also Hit

The Plymouth fire and another at West Kennebunk, Maine were the last to be brought under control. At Plymouth a force of 2,500 grimy fire-fighters wearily walked away from the last of the smoldering embers of 20,000 acres of forest.

Despite heavy losses, estimated at $1,500,000 in the Plymouth fire alone, no deaths have been reported in the five days of fires which blackened thousands of acres of forest and destroyed some 175 homes.

Soot-blackened firemen were preparing for a street-to-street fight in Plymouth when the flames were turned back. Though the fire was officially under control, a force of 1,000 men continued to patrol the edges of the community to guard against "underground" fires rekindling near showplace homes preserved from the pilgrim era.

tory for her," Mrs. Rago said. Miss Lucy McGinnis, in charge of nursery, said Baby Geraldine started gaining about six weeks after birth. "Her first meal was taken with a doll's nipple and bottle," the nurse smiled.

Miss McGinnis said the infant was in and out of isolation three times when we found she did very well in a bassinet.

"We're all tickled pink for both of you," Miss McGinnis said. "I can still see that little girl when she was just so small, and when I look at her now, why I'm so happy I don't know what to do."

Good Baby

"I wonder if Geraldine will miss the nursery?" Mrs. Rago asked. "You won't have any trouble, you have a good baby. She sleeps from feeding to feeding," Nurse McGinnis said.

"I've waited so long for my baby," Mrs. Rago said, "the pleasure today was almost too much for me. I'm still shaking a little." She'll make it home tomorrow, Mrs. Rago said. "She's come along this far, she'll make it now."

Immediate plans for Geraldine include Christening. Then the next step is normal home life.

Mrs. Rago is counting seconds until she gets her Mother's Day gift for 1957.

ment if an impartial jury can not be obtained by then.

Hoffa is charged with bribing a Rackets Committee investigator to slip him committee secrets about its Teamster investigation.

Some of the deals disclosed this week fell in the period beginning in 1954 when the committee has said Beck, deep in income tax trouble, raised money to replace part of the $322,000 that he is charged with taking from Teamster treasuries.

Ready For Recital

A dance recital will be given today at 7 p.m. at William Penn Junior High School, Fairless Hills, for benefit of the Fairless Hills Community Center, sponsored by Helen Nickerson. In the recital will be (from left) Vivienne Rock, Estelle Schlam, Susan Hinchliffe, Dolores Cardamon, and Sandra Caldwell.

Tullytown Demo Head Raps Brennan

Edward Paoella, Tullytown Democratic Club president, today charged Assemblyman A. Patrick Brennan with being a "publicity seeker and headline hunter."

Mr. Paoella made the charge against Mr. Brennan after reading a release in a local newspaper. Paoella said the article stated that $25,000 had been "hidden" in the 1957 budget for the purpose of building a borough hall.

"There is no money allotted for a borough hall, as far as I know," Mr. Paoella said.

Joseph Cutchinal, a Democratic candidate for reelection to Borough Council, also stated that he knew nothing of the "so-called hidden money."

"The voters are interested in the qualifications of the candidates in primary elections, and not in general issues," Mr. Cutchinal said.

Mr. Paoella said he could not understand the "Brennan-inspired statement."

He recently announced the Democratic Club endorsement of the Michael Pirolli slate. Mr. Pirolli is candidate for Burgess in the Democratic primary election.

Others on the slate are Ernest L. Johnson, Mr. Cutchinal, Alan Nay and Anthony Biancosino, for Council; May Brill and Sidney Nechin, for school directors; Arthur Leight, for tax collector; Carl M. Stroup, for auditor; Christine Baruzzza, inspector of elections and Edward Hunt, for judge of elections.

regained consciousness, she told the firemen of the other three children, but by the time rescuers reached them, they were dead.

The father, Joseph, 29, an employee of the Philadelphia Transportation Co., was at work at the time and arrived on the scene later.

Young John, Hugh and the parents were taken to the northern division of the Einstein Medical Center where they were treated for shock and smoke inhalation.

The blaze was confined to the basement.

Annual Observance Planned By Church

Special Mother's Day Services will be held at the Cornwells Methodist Church tomorrow.

At the Worship Services at both 8:30 and 11 a.m. the Sacrament of Baptism for Infants will be administered.

The pastor, Rev. Thomas E. Anderman, will preach on the theme: "Honor Thy Mother." Special music will be provided by the Chancel and Chapel choirs. Each mother present will be honored by receiving a flower.

Another feature of the 11 a.m. service will be the installation of officers for the Women's Society of Christian Service.

To be installed are: Mrs. Emma Johnston, president; Mrs. Margaret Simon, vice-president; Mrs. Audrey Hughes, treasurer; Mrs. T. Mjaland, secretary; Mrs. Elsie Kepler, promotion secretary; Mrs. Florence Ferguson, secretary of mission-ary education; Mrs. Marie Warden, secretary of children's work; Mrs. Gertrude Hanely, spiritual Leighton, church secretary.
